HARVARD SCHOOL
OF
PUBLIC HEALTH

CLASS OF 1957

FORWORD

The field of public health has room for a wide variety of people and many points of view. This year we have all had a chance to exchange ideas with people of different ages, professions and nationalities. We have dicussed a wide range of topics. These included not only infectious diseases which continue to be the major health problem in most of the world but NEWER concerns such as accident prevention, chronic disease and mental health. Teaching and discussion throughout the year have demonstrated to all of us that new and untried patterns must be combined with well established and proved methods in Public Health.

While most of us cannot precisely express the changes that have occured, we all leave the Harvard School of Public Health different than on arrival. Undoubtedly we will continue to note the lasting effect of this year on our beliefs, our point of view and our actions, not only as professional workers but also as human beings.

Public Health workers do not live and work in isolation. Certainly the relationships with our fellow students have been enriching in many ways. We regret that it was not possible to include the faculty and staff in this book; their impact on us far transcends formal instruction and routine administration.

The year has been a full one - at times too full for immediate absorption; this book should help us to more completely assimilate the whole experience, each in his own fashion.

CLASS OF 1957

CLASS ACTIVITIES

Chronologically speaking

Fall Term -- First Period

Registration week brought us into contact with this "strange new world that has such creatures in it." However, thanks to the quiet efficiency of the staff and the help of the Faculty Wives, we got over all the hurdles and soon came to feel that we "belonged."

The first social function was the official reception to meet President and Mrs. Pusey, Dean and Mrs. Snyder, and Assistant Dean and Mrs. Whittenberger; this was also an opportunity to meet other members of the Faculty. Then there was a small party at Harkness Common for students only -- no spouses allowed! During this period, as indeed all through the year, the Dean and Mrs. Snyder entertained students at their home. Other Faculty members also extended hospitality.

Flocculation, Filtration . . . and Frustration

Apart from two field trips in connection with Sanitary Engineering, we stayed close to the classroom, with the exception of those who attended the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association in New Jersey. It was not until November, when we had gotten over the first shock of Biostatistics, that we finally elected Class officers.

Fall Term -- Second Period

The Forum Committee arranged as the first session a talk by Dr. R. M. Kasliwal of India, the subject being "Amoebiasis in India." Dr. Emmanuel Ben-Dor, visiting lecturer on Biblical Archaeology at Harvard, gave an illustrated talk on Archaeology with special reference to recent finds in Israel. He was followed by Dr. Muendel who spoke of conditions at a transit immigrant camp in Israel. After the talks there were refreshments which included special Israeli delicacies, and we also had the opportunity of hearing music of the country.

Swing Your Partner

A square dance held at the Watertown Arsenal brought much amusement to all, with everybody joining in and tripping the light (and not so light) fantastic.

The Christmas party was a huge success with the Christmas spirit not only in the air but very much in the glass. Santa Claus Langford was superb and distributed gifts to all. Judging by the gleam in some of the Fathers' eyes when they received their mechanical cars, fire-engines, etc., we could tell that Junior wouldn't get much chance to use them.

A high spot of the party was when Dr. Muench received a Polyplus Jonesi with an accompanying ode which he read:

"I am a Polyplus Jonesi . . ."

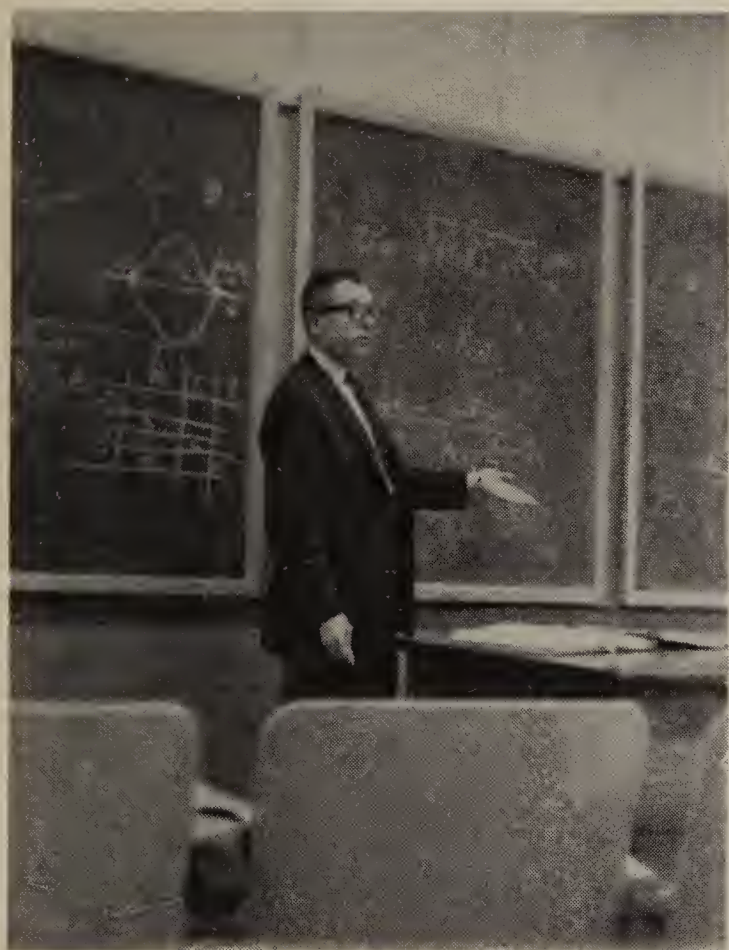

"I am a Polyplus Jonesi, begotten Biostatistically,
A lonely, beautiful adult male, 98 centimeters from tip to tail.

My mode is often plebeian, my middle is my median.
I always teeter on my mean, but keep my random sampling clean.

When my standard deviation's formal, my distribution's always normal.

If ever you should catch another, almost perhaps like my brother,
Maybe 90 centimeters or more, something must be watched out for.

Reason, is the difference real? Does he have my sex appeal?
Weigh the facts with one small curse. Is he in this universe?
Then null the probability and view him hypothetically."

"Obviously."

"Fellow estudiantes . . ."

Although we all agree that Biostatistics had had a great impact on us, no one expected the novel and immediate use to which one student put it: instead of to look at the etchings, it was "Would you care to come to my rooms and help me with Statistics?"

The period immediately following the Christmas vacation was not a very active one socially -- though overactive cerebrally -- because we were then finding out the truth of Dr. Mayes' prophetic chart and morale was at the lowest point on the curve.

At this time also, "Instructor" Veatch was more popular than ever, judging by the increased numbers at his "tutorials."

Premature P.H. Practice at Bellevue

After the examinations, the majority of students went to New York City for a week's field trip, the two groups being Epidemiology and Public Health Practice. It was an interesting trip, including the unlisted activities which were effective in decreasing the weight of the pocketbook. Those who did not go on the trip had the opportunity to get an early start in the season's skiing in New Hampshire.

South of the Border

Spring Term - - First Period

In spite of a heavy snowfall, a large crowd turned out for the Latin-American and British Caribbean night. Eight countries were represented. We heard from Dr. Barone Forzano of Brazil (This is Brazil), from Dr. Harney of the British West Indies (Calypso Land), from Dr. Fernandez of Cuba (The Pearl of the Caribbean), from Dr. Gaertner of Colombia, from Dr. Bustamente of Chile, from Dr. Alcerro-Castro of Honduras, from Dr. Matute of Panama (Heart of the Universe, Bridge of the World), and from Dr. Riskey of Venezuela (Land of Simon Bolivar). Many of the talks were illustrated by colored slides.

Afterwards while having refreshments -- including coffee from Colombia -- we were entertained by typical music of these countries, both live and recorded. Matute -- who was in the colorful dress of his country -- and Bustamente proved themselves very versatile entertainers. After a while the lilting rhythm got into the blood (or was it the liquid refreshment?) and many persons were moved to perform some lively dancing.

"But the fact is . . ."

Another interesting occasion was the Arabic night. Dr. Shurrab gave a talk on "Arabs - Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," Dr. El-Sherbini spoke of Arabic culture, Mr. El Dakhakhny on recent developments in Egypt, and Miss Hussein, an Engineering student, spoke of the role of the woman in Arabic states. We saw two excellent films of Egypt and heard music from the Arabic world. Again we were treated afterwards to a huge spread, not only typical Eastern refreshments but also an impressive array of fruits of every kind.

March 15 found us all at Harkness Common celebrating St. Patrick's Day with everybody wearing "a bit o' green". In fact, even the beer came green that night.

On another evening, Dr. Garland, Editor of the New England Journal of Medicine, conducted a most instructive and entertaining seminar on "Medical Writing."

The Jewish Memorial Hospital

These gatherings provided a good opportunity for class members to get together, because with the cessation of required subjects we often did not see our colleagues for weeks at a time. Most persons were busy with field visits, wearing out tires, soles (and souls) going hither and yon. In fact, the dispersal was so great that Treasurer Gernert could not catch up with his debtors and in desperation a notice appeared asking class members please to “. . . pay me where you find me, any time, any place.”

And then again it was time for those exams which come around with unfailing regularity. As we go to Press, Public Health Practice students are off on field trips to Washington and Maine.

What lies ahead?

Plans include a clambake, a boat trip, a Pacific night, a North American night and the Industrial Hygienists' trip to St. Louis for the Annual meeting of the Association. Then there is the inevitable comprehensive examination and finally something intangible, something to which we cannot assign dates: the memory of a good year at Harvard when we learned much more than Public Health.
